

Deep Cut

My Thoughts Light Fires

East London band Deep Cut release their debut album My Thoughts Light Fires on February 2nd. Last year's excellent Commodity single turned a few heads, and since then the band has been quietly gigging around London and recording new songs. The first fruits of these recordings, Time To Kill was recently released as a 7" & digital release and spent six weeks on the NME Radio A-list.

Deep Cut is vocalist Emma Bailey, guitarist Mat Flint and bassist Simon Flint, guitarist Pad Bailey and drummer by Ian Button. The album was recorded by Ian Button at Vatican Studios in East London.

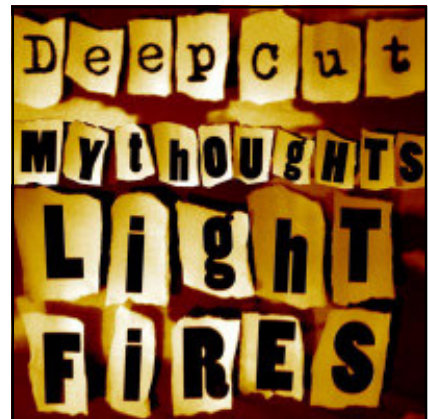

Mat Flint was founder member of early 90's Virgin/Hut band Revolver, and has played bass in Death In Vegas for ten years. Mat was also resident dj at Heavenly Social for four years. Several Deep Cut tracks have been produced/mixed by Tim Holmes from DiV.

The songs are about lifechanging decisions, being trapped by society, impossible social situations, personal confusion, feeling undervalued, the breakdown of friendships, paranormal activity, watching loved ones losing control, premeditated murder, the wasting of life....

Deep Cut are inspired by The Brian Jonestown Massacre, JAMC, Harmonia, Stereolab, 60s girl groups, MBV, The Beatles, Arthur Lee and Love, Sonic Youth and the Byrds.
